I received my education between the lions, the two lions guarding the New York Public Library.

Whenever a young person writes me about becoming a writer
I say to him, "In order to be a writer you must become a reader first." A child speaks because he hears, the writer writes because he reads.

The uses of the past are an invaluable aid to everyone. Our great lawyers were able to address the jury with quotations from Shakespeare and Omar Khayyam. The civilized person is a cultured person and the way to achieve this is by reading.

Sincerely yours,

Harry Golden
