

The Seal of the State of New York Executive Chamber features an eagle with wings spread, perched atop a shield. The shield is supported by two female figures, one holding a scale of justice and the other a sword. Below the shield is a banner with the word 'EXCELSIOR'. The entire seal is rendered in a light blue color.

The State of New York

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER

Message

The children of Troy can take special pride in their new library -- a milestone event in the history of their community.

By using it to read the creative works of great minds of the past and present, they can gain a greater appreciation of their city, state, nation, and world. This appreciation in turn will make them more responsible citizens, better able to cope with the problems we face.

I am sure the new facility will be a source of great pleasure and cultural enrichment for people of all ages in your community.

Governor

April 29, 1971